

Volckmann Is Found Guilty Of First Degree Murder Of Helen Glenn

Catskill Butcher Boy To Pay Supreme Penalty For Murder of Methodist Pastor's Daughter Last June in Catskill.

QUICK VERDICT

Jury Deliberate 20 Minutes Before Arriving at Verdict; Volckmann Is Calm.

Catskill, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—A Greene county jury today found guilty of first degree murder for the slaying of nine-year-old Helen Glenn.

First degree murder conviction in New York state automatically calls for death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison.

The jury deliberated the case just 20 minutes before arriving at the verdict. Volckmann received the verdict calmly.

The jury reported to Supreme Court Justice Gilbert V. Schenck early this afternoon that it had agreed, but it withheld its report until the jurors had eaten lunch.

Jury Retires at Noon

A Greene county jury retired shortly before noon to decide the fate of Alfred E. Volckmann, 20, charged with first degree murder for the slaying of nine-year-old Helen Glenn.

Supreme Court Justice Gilbert V. Schenck completed his charge before the jury at 11:30 a. m. He outlined the verdicts which the jury could return.

The jury may find the 20-year-old butcher boy innocent, by reason of insanity, he said, or guilty of first degree murder; second degree murder, or manslaughter in the first or second degree.

A first degree murder conviction automatically would call for death in the electric chair, under New York law, unless Governor Lehman should grant clemency or higher courts should upset the conviction.

Volckmann has been on trial for nearly six weeks. During that time the defense has steadily maintained that he was not accountable for his acts.

The Glenn girl's body, stabbed with a knife, was found near a Catskill mountain creek in June, 1935. The state accused Volckmann of luring her to his room and attacking her.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSES SUSPENDED OR REVOKED

On a charge that it was irregularly issued the license of William Holmstrom of Williams Lakes, Binnewater, was suspended and on a charge of allowing an unlicensed operator to drive car the license of Henry Diehl, Jr., Harwich street, Kingston, R. D., was suspended.

Winter Paints Costly Scene Over State Today; Waterspout Near Troy

Albany, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—Snow and sub-freezing weather returned to parts of New York state today in the wake of freak weather that sent a waterspout whirling across the Hudson river at Troy. Snow was falling at Owl's Head and Malone.

The temperature dropped to 26 degrees at Saranac Lake, and snow also fell there between 5:30 and 7 a. m. The temperature in Syracuse, Rome and Albany was close to freezing.

Winds from the north, a sharp drop in temperature late yesterday. Stormy clouds sailed over the state capital so low they barely cleared high buildings. At the same time several persons saw the waterspout crossing the Hudson at nearby Troy. It wrecked a tree when it reached the Troy shore, but did no other serious damage, and disappeared in a rainstorm.

High winds interrupted navigation on Oneida Lake. For the second time within a week frosty temperatures caused farmers concern for their crops. A cold wave last week did serious damage.

Lawns and rooftops were white with snow in Malone. The temperature was 30. Snow lay an inch deep at Owl's Head.

Hindenburg Moored At Lakehurst, Speedy Departure Planned

Lakehurst, N. J., May 20 (AP)—The German dirigible Hindenburg was grounded at the Lakehurst naval air station at 6:03 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today, completing its second commercial crossing of the North Atlantic in 78 hours, 27 minutes.

The landing was effected without incident. At 6 o'clock, the first landing lines were dropped from the great airship's nose and seconds later other lines were thrown from the tail. The ground crew quickly pulled the Zeppelin to the ground.

Only a few hundred people watched. At 6:13 o'clock, the ship was safely tied up at the outdoor mooring mast about a quarter mile from the air station hangar. It was to remain outside during its scheduled brief stay, with refueling operations being conducted at the mast.

The Hindenburg's crossing was nearly 17 hours slower than its record inaugural trip when it reached Lakehurst 61 hours 57 minutes after leaving its home port. It started this cruise from Frankfurt on the Main, Germany, at 11:35 p. m., Saturday.

The Zeppelin had bucked heavy head winds during its trans-Atlantic cruise and was a day late as a result. Westerly winds with a velocity of 17 miles per hour prevailed at the air station this morning but the ground crew of 30 blue-jackets and 125 civilians, many of them ex-airmen, had no difficulty in keeping the ship under control.

Immigration, public health, department of agriculture and customs officials boarded the Hindenburg immediately after the mooring. Following their inspection, the passengers disembarked and were taken by bus to the hangar. There they passed through the final customs inspection. They were to fly in Newark aboard transport planes.

Lieutenant Commander John M. Thornton, who made the round trip on the Hindenburg as a U. S. Navy observer, said he had a "nice trip."

"The best thing about it was the landing," he added. "That was a very fancy landing in that wind."

Continued Improvements

Albany, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—Continued improvement in the construction industry in employment and new buildings was reported today by Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews. Employment and payrolls in the industry increased 23 and 34 percent respectively last month, the commissioner said. The greatest increase was noted in the upstate area, where employment and payrolls jumped 44 percent as compared with 25 per cent in New York city.

Collapsed and Buried

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, May 20 (AP)—Dr. Pedro Miralles, foreign minister of Venezuela under the late president, Juan Vicente Gomez, collapsed while swimming today and drowned. Dr. Miralles had been in the water for some time when he was found by a local fisherman. The cause of the collapse was not known.

A freak windstorm of "twister" velocity hit the uptown section of the city shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday evening, and left in its wake several fallen trees and a large number of limbs from trees. One of the felled trees broke the uptown house-lighting circuit of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.; and the house lights in the area affected were out of commission for about an hour before repairs were completed. The storm swept into the city with a heavy electrical display and for several minutes there was a deluge of rain.

The storm, however, did not affect the downtown section of the city so far as damage from wind was concerned. The wind seemed to move in a circular direction in the Main and Green street sections of the city, west of Wall street. One resident said it was what he would call a "twister." While the wind was at its height the sky appeared to be creamy in color.

The house lighting circuit was placed out of commission when a large tree on Main street near the Pennington studio fell, carrying the circuit wires with it. Trees and limbs were blown down on Fair, Main, Green and Wall streets and on Lafayette avenue. The First Dutch Church presented a scene of wreckage as the wind tore the limbs from many of the trees surrounding the church yard.

Two parked cars had their tops damaged by falling limbs. On Main street a live wire fell on top of one of the Pennington cars, burning a hole in the roof of the car. The firemen from Wiltwyck Hose responded to a call when the fire fell. The board of public works sent out crews of men to clear the streets of fallen trees and move the fallen limbs of trees that were forming a hazard to traffic.

The wind storm lasted but a few minutes, but during that time it did considerable damage. Downtown there was wind, but it was not to be compared to the twister that struck the uptown section. The New York Telephone Co. reported that damage to its system was negligible.

Limbs Fall in Churchyard The heavy wind, accompanied by rain, that swept out of black and threatening clouds from the west and northwest about six o'clock Tuesday night struck with full force along Main street and in the old Dutch churchyard.

Several large limbs were stripped from the old trees in the churchyard. A couple of them were a foot or more through. One of them fell not far from the Governor Clinton monument, which would have been ruined had the heavy limb struck it. Another big limb was torn from the tall locust tree that stands near the entrance to the church and was hurled by the force of the wind so that the butt landed more than 60 feet from the base of the tree, across the walk and nearly clear of the east side of the church. This limb struck the large stone which has been resting horizontally, supported by four posts, not far from the church and smashed one of the corners. The stone is a memorial to Johannes G. Hardenbergh, who died in 1812, and to his wife, Cornelia DuBois Hardenbergh.

Strangely enough, few if any of the many dead limbs which are so plentiful among the trees in the churchyard were felled by the wind. The limb that fell near the Clinton monument was little more than a shell of bark and presumably others there are in like condition.

On Fair street a huge limb from one of the big locusts on the Forsyth property was torn off, lifted completely over the network of light wires and thrown across the street, fortunately missing the stained glass windows in St. James Church. The twisting effect of the wind was shown in the way the big limb was wrenched and twisted. It looked as if someone had been trying to wring out a huge wooden dishrag.

Longhorn House Damaged

Near Dr. Nelson's residence, opposite the Eagle hotel, a good sized maple was snapped off and just a little further the wind tore the upper part out of a window on the west side of the Longhorn house and scattered the furniture about inside the room. It also wrenched a bolted shutter loose, tearing the iron staple out of the brick wall.

County Feels Storm

Following close on the storm windstorm of last week Friday county was shaken by another severe "howl" Tuesday evening but little damage outside of broken trees and twisted branches were reported. At various sections of the county reports of high wind were received but no reports of any serious damage were made.

Holt N. Winfield reported that there was a little hail at his farm in Ulster Park, but the damage was not serious.

Boy Drowned Swimming In Rondout Creek, Body Recovered By Father

Orlando Costello, Aged 12, of 35 Newkirk Avenue Loses His Life in First Drowning Here of the Season.

BODY RECOVERED

Boy's Father and John Schick Bring Body To Shore After 55 Minutes in Water.

Orlando Costello, 12, of 35 Newkirk avenue, was drowned while swimming in the Rondout creek off the Island Dock shortly after 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The body was later recovered but efforts to resuscitate the boy proved futile. It was the first drowning fatality of the season in Kingston.

The boy with Raymond Murphy, 12, of 177 Hasbrouck avenue, a son of the late Policeman Charles Murphy, had gone swimming in the creek. They swam from the foot of Canal street over to the Island Dock, and when they noticed that a storm was about to break they decided to swim back.

When about half way across young Murphy heard his companion shout "I can't make it." Murphy turned and swam back to the side of Costello and grasped him by the hair of his head and attempted to swim with him toward shore. Murphy, however, lost his grip and Costello sank.

Murphy hurriedly swam to shore and told John Guadagnola, proprietor of the hotel on Canal street to call for help as young Costello had gone down. The police were notified and called the Central Fire Station and Deputy Fire Chief Fred M. Leverich and Firemen LaTour, Fitzgerald, and Williams were rushed to the dock with the inhalator.

In the meantime John Costello, father of the boy, together with John Schick, a former member of the police department, grappled for the body and brought it to shore. The body had been in the water 55 minutes before it was recovered.

The firemen worked for nearly an hour with the inhalator in an effort to resuscitate the boy, but their efforts proved futile and Dr. Jack Lehner, who had been called, pronounced the boy dead. Coroner Leon DuBois, of New Paltz, who responded to a call, following an investigation, issued a verdict of death by accidental drowning.

The boy is the son of John and Laura Amato Costello, and besides his parents is survived by two brothers, John and Louis. He was a student at School No. 3. Funeral services will be held from the late home Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock and thence to St. Mary's Church where a solemn Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in the St. Mary's cemetery.

TWO RUNAWAY BOYS SENT HOME TO BROOKLYN TODAY

Early this morning Emanuel Brand, 16, and John DiGiovanni, 18, both of Brooklyn, were found in a doorway downtown by Officer Straley and placed under arrest on charges of vagrancy. They said they had stepped into the doorway to get out of the cold. A teletype message was sent to the Brooklyn police who notified the parents of the boys, and the parents stated they would send money to Kingston to pay the fare of the boys back home. Under those circumstances Judge Culliton suspended sentence of the boys when they were arraigned before him in police court later in the morning.

Governor Lehman to Retire, "Record Speaks for Itself," He Says in Surprise Action

WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE

GOVERNOR HERBERT H. LEHMAN

Chief Executive Says He Has Given Both Time and Strength for Eight Years and Desires to Rest.

NOT A CANDIDATE

Governor Expresses Appreciation of Desire of Friends That He Seek Re-election in Fall.

Albany, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—Governor Lehman announced today that he will not be a candidate for reelection this fall.

In a move wholly unexpected even by his closest friends, the governor summoned newsmen to his office shortly after noon.

"I feel that the time has come when I may ask release from the cares and responsibilities of the governorship," he said.

Mr. Lehman has served two two-year terms as governor.

"For almost eight years," he said, "I have given to the work of the state all my time and all my strength. During those years I have felt that the confidence shown by the people of the state could be repaid only by devotion to the welfare of the state. I can honestly say that I have given that in full measure and that I have seen in public office only opportunity to serve the state and its people."

"During these difficult years the opportunity to serve has been great, but the cares and responsibilities of office have been correspondingly heavy. The record speaks for itself. My pledges and performances are known. I have greatly enjoyed these years of public office."

"I Feel That Time Has Come" "But I feel that the time has come when I may ask release from the cares and responsibilities of the governorship. Accordingly I shall not be a candidate for reelection this autumn."

The governor added that he has been "deeply moved by and appreciative of the expressed desire of my friends that I should again stand for reelection."

"May I assure them that at no time will my interest in the welfare of the people of the state of New York diminish," he said.

Mr. Lehman's statement took the capital by surprise, inasmuch as it had been believed he would accept the nomination for a third term without question.

It is known that Democratic leaders desired the governor to run again, and regarded his candidacy as strength for President Roosevelt in New York state.

Jokes With Reporters

The governor smiled and joked with the reporters in his usual manner before handing out the mimeographed statement, and gave no indication of what was forthcoming.

Mr. Lehman declined to discuss the matter preferring to "let my statement speak for itself."

"Did your brother's death (Arthur Lehman, of the Lehman Corporation, who died last week) hasten your decision," the governor was asked.

"I prefer," the governor replied, "not to comment."

When the newspapermen expressed surprise over the statement, the governor merely smiled and sat back in his chair without saying a word. With him were Walter T. Brown, his secretary, James J. Mahoney, assistant secretary, and Charles Poletti, counsel.

The entire conference consumed less than three minutes, so anxious were the newspapermen to reach their wires and telephones.

Mr. Lehman entered state service in 1924 as lieutenant governor under the then Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, which position he served through 1932.

At the end of their four years together, when Mr. Roosevelt was looking toward Washington, he and Alfred E. Smith supported Mr. Lehman as his successor. Mr. Lehman defeated William J. Donovan, Republican, in the 1932 election, the first lieutenant governor to serve 20 years in service in the governorship in a regular election. He defeated Robert Moses in his second campaign. He is now 57 years old.

Before he entered politics, the governor was an international-known banker and philanthropist, and had been a textile manufacturer, investment banker, director in a dozen corporations, an educator, a social worker, colonel in the army, assistant secretary of war, and labor mediator.

The governor's declaration immediately aroused speculation in political circles as to the possible reasons underlying his decision. Observers pointed out, as Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., and Robert H. Jackson, of Jamacota, now connected with the federal administration in Washington.

Governor Landon is Assured of 26 Of New Jersey Votes at Convention Hoffman Outranks Fort as Delegate

Jacob Finklestein Is Awarded $150 Against The Golden Rule Inn

Newark, N. J., May 20 (AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas was assured of at least 26 of New Jersey's votes at the Republican national convention when returns from the state's primary election were three-fifths complete today.

He also continued his sweep of the preferential voting, having a four-to-one advantage over Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

The preferential vote in 2366 out of 3,578 election districts was: Landon 218,905; Borah 56,801.

Interest turned anew to the fight of Governor Harold G. Hoffman to retain his position as titular head of the Republican party in the state.

As the totals mounted, Hoffman dropped from first to fourth place in the contest of five candidates for the four delegate-at-large posts.

He was, however, running well ahead of Franklin W. Fort, who split Hoffman's vote with a bitter attack on the governor's activities in the case of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Small Vote

Col. Henry Breckinridge, lone entry on the Democratic preference ballot, polled a relatively small vote. His total for the 2,366 districts was 25,371.

President Roosevelt, whose name was not on the ballot, got a sizeable "write-in" vote which in places far exceeded that for Breckinridge. In Atlantic county 5,402 persons penciled in the name of the President while only 879 checked the name of Breckinridge.

The Roosevelt vote was not tabulated generally, and in some places the Landon-Borah count was delayed while state and local contests were decided.

Hoffman led the "big-four" slate for many hours, aided by a plurality of 6,990 over Fort in Democratic Hudson county, where Fort charged a deal was made with Mayor Frank Hague, Democratic leader, for "bullet" votes for the governor.

Outranks Fort

Newark, N. J., May 20 (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman dropped in to fourth place in the Republican delegate at large voting today when returns from 2544 of 2644 districts were counted. Four are to be elected. The tabulation showed:

Buffalo, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—The lowly cornstalk was credited today with saving thousands of growing plants in western New York from destruction by recent wintry temperatures.

Piled in heaps in truck patches, the stalks were set afire and the resulting "smudges" provided the crops with an effective blanket against the cold.

Tomato plants were hardest hit, one farmer near Lockport in Niagara county losing more than half of his 14,000 plants. Another farmer in the same section, however, used "smudges" and saved all but 200 of his 6,500 plants.

It is possible to tell the temperature of the night from the cheerful little cricket according to weather lore of New York, H. W. Thompson, of the state teachers college, told a farm audience from General Electric station WGY. It has been said that by counting the number of chirps a cricket makes in 14 seconds and adding 40 that the temperature can be ascertained. The speaker remarked that he had never tested the method and could not vouch for it.

Future Is Built Only on Present

Utica, N. Y., May 20.—Ordinary experiences can build broad, rich living and persons who have made important contributions to society have not necessarily had unusual opportunities, says Flora Rose, director of the New York State College of Home Economics.

Rather, she explains, these persons have used simple every day experiences to expand their outlook and to increase their ability to get the most from things around them. This she says, is culture.

The essential purpose of education is to increase opportunities for wide and varied normal experience. Schools and colleges offer the raw material from which the desired kind of living can be created; what is built with that material depends on the person and his relation to people and events about him.

Normal experience shared correctly can open new worlds and enrich and expand a person's outlook, according to Miss Rose. A person's intelligent effort to understand any normal experience, and the interest and enthusiasm shown are necessary roads that indicate how creative future life will be.

More political irregularity—college students are having home-plays at their mock conventions.

Can "Gas" Ants Infesting Lawns

Geneva, N. Y., May 20.—Ants in the lawn are again troubling many householders, judging from the requests for information on how to combat these overzealous insects received almost daily at the State Experiment Station here. According to Prof. F. Z. Hartzell, station entomologist, extermination can best be accomplished by "gassing" the insect with carbon bisulfide. The material is cheap, one treatment usually suffices, and the lawn suffers no harmful effects, he says. Only one precaution is necessary and that is that carbon bisulfide is just as inflammable as so much gasoline and care should be taken not to bring it close to a lighted match or cigar or cigarette.

"Ants may show themselves in various ways in the lawn, some species building quite conspicuous nests or 'hills,' while others cover wide areas in the lawn with the openings to their underground quarters, but in either case the treatment is the same—gassing with carbon bisulfide," says Prof. Hartzell.

Gas Penetrates Colonies.

"The best way to get the fumes of the carbon bisulfide into the ant colonies is to make small holes about 8 to 12 inches deep and 5 to 8 inches apart around and through the infested area in the lawn. In each of these openings, place one tablespoonful of the carbon bisulfide and cover it immediately with soil. The treatment is made more effective by placing a wet blanket over the infested area for about 4 hours to confine the gas. Carbon bisulfide gas is heavier than air and will replace the air in the tunnels occupied by the adult ants and the immature stages of the insects, thus affecting a quick death. One treatment usually suffices and most of the adults will be killed, and the young, if not killed outright, cannot survive without the care of the adults.

"It is not necessary to purchase highly refined carbon bisulfide, which is often quite expensive, the so-called 'Technical' grade being entirely satisfactory for the purpose. Carbon bisulfide is highly inflammable and should be handled and stored with just as much care as would be exercised with a similar amount of gasoline. Also special precautions should be taken while working with this material to avoid close contact with a lighted pipe, cigarette or cigar."

Benjamin B. O'Dell Excursion May 24

Kingston sport fans, especially those devoted to baseball, will have an opportunity of seeing a big league baseball game between the Glants and the Phillies at the Polo Grounds, on Sunday, May 24, returning to Kingston Point the same day. In addition to the ball game between the Glants and the Phillies, which starts at 3 p. m., there are numerous other pleasure resorts that are getting under way for the summer season in the big city and these should also interest Kingston Point residents out for a day's run. The return trip to Kingston Point is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p. m. when the Benjamin B. O'Dell will leave Pier 52 foot of West 14th street stopping at West 129th street at 6 p. m. and arriving at Kingston Point at about 11 p. m.

Cops and Robbers in real life

A policeman caught two men ransacking a cigar store. He backed one of them against a wall and ordered the other into a telephone booth to call police headquarters.

The man protested that he didn't have a nickel, so the policeman flipped a coin in his direction. Meekly, the thief called headquarters, and he and his companion were soon riding in a patrol wagon.

An unusual example of the value of the telephone in reaching anybody, anywhere, any time. This story also illustrates the priceless value of the telephone in times of emergency. New York Telephone Company.

Hudson Public Soup Kitchen for Relief Clients, Mayor's Plan

Hudson, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—Mayor Fred Wheeler planned to set up a public "soup kitchen" and house 1,000 welfare clients in the state armory today following refusal of the Columbia county Board of Supervisors to extend financial aid to the city in a relief crisis.

"We are considering an appeal to the Red Cross for help," the mayor said as he prepared to confer with members of the city charity commission.

Harrassed for weeks by dwindling relief funds, Mayor Wheeler said "only about $2,000" remained available to care for 259 families on the city's relief rolls.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday rejected 14 to 8 the city's request for a loan of $100,000 to finance relief. The mayor proposed Columbia county grant the loan for a ten year period after appeals to state and federal agencies were turned down.

Chairman Allen S. Phelps of New Lebanon, told the mayor: "The federal government has turned you down, the state of New York has turned you down, and now you want a simple little community like Columbia county to take up your emergency when we have no assurance of being paid."

Mayor Wheeler said he had received permission of military authorities to use the armory until approval of federal authorities could be obtained for the use of tents. The mayor previously had outlined plans to set up tents on the new high school grounds, where, he said, the welfare clients would be "comfortable" during the summer months.

The mayor also said he planned to ask the federal surplus commodities agency to furnish food. This agency has a warehouse at Schoenectady.

Before voting on Hudson's application for a loan, the Board of Supervisors received a communication from the Workers League, signed by 268 members. The letter asked that the city's request be granted and pointed out Hudson pays 25 percent of the county tax burden.

HELD ON CHARGE OF BEING A WAYWARD MINOR

Dorothy Parmelee, the 17 year old girl taken into custody with Delbert Rock, 21, Monday, by Trooper Raymond Dunn at Pine Hill, is being held at Delhi, Delaware county, on a charge of being a wayward minor.

Miss Parmelee, who told the trooper she had lived with Rock for two months after running away from her home in Poughkeepsie, is to be arraigned before the Delaware county judge, Monday, May 25. The girl told Trooper Dunn she was unaware of her parents' address in Poughkeepsie because the family had moved since she left. Last night, a teletype check up, revealed her mother resides at 9 Clover street, Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Parmelee and George Davis, Dutchess county welfare agent, are to appear at the hearing in Delhi.

Rock has been sent back to Elmira reformatory from which he was out on parole. When he finishes his time, he'll face a grand larceny charge growing out of the alleged theft of an automobile which he used to transport the Parmelee girl from Walton to Pine Hill, where Trooper Dunn arrested him after a chase through the woods. Rock and the girl tried to escape after abandoning the car which the trooper was pursuing.

New Paltz Bank Theft Not Linked to Robbers Who Raided Pine Bush

Hope of linking the Pine Bush bank bandits with the New Paltz robbery, that occurred last year, faded Tuesday afternoon when two employees of the New Paltz Savings Bank failed to identify the two men being held in connection with the Pine Bush job.

Jailor Clayton Vredenburg of Sheriff Abram F. Molyneux's Ulster county enforcement squad took George Zimmerman and W. E. Minard of the New Paltz bank to the Orange county jail at Goshen yesterday to see Stuart Wallace, alias Walter Murphy, and to Thrall Memorial Hospital, Middletown, to look at John J. Stewart.

The New Paltz men, after getting a good look at the two alleged bank robbers, said they were not the ones who robbed the New Paltz Savings Bank.

"Take a good look at these men, and ask them any questions you want to," said Sheriff Clarke of Orange county to the bank employees. Sheriff Clarke accompanied the bankers and Jailor Vredenburg to Wallace's cell in the jail and to Stewart's room in the hospital.

"We appreciate the cooperation Sheriff Molyneux gave us in this case," Sheriff Clark told Vredenburg. "I think that if it were not for the concentrated activity of his forces and the Ulster county state troopers, these men we caught would have gotten away."

Sheriff Clarke's theory is that the bandits had a get-away car, which was to have picked them up after they abandoned the Buick they left in the farm barn; but this method of escape was foiled by the quick appearance on the scene of the Ulster county sheriff and his men, and state police from Troop C.

The bandits stole a Plymouth to escape, but the troopers shot this full of holes in their chase of the robbers, who abandoned it to take flight on foot. Wallace was shot in the head when this happened. The wound was superficial. The bullet, striking him in the back of the head, stunned him and the troopers took him into custody.

Stewart was captured in the woods after the state police shot him in the right leg.

No questions were asked of Wallace or Stewart yesterday by the New Paltz men. Wallace boldly faced them without uttering a word. His sharp eyes seemed to pierce them through as they stood in front of his cell, and his attitude was one of "Well, what do you want?" Stewart appeared at ease on his hospital cot, talking with his guards, a state trooper and another policeman.

"Good afternoon, sheriff," said Stewart to Clarke when he entered his room, and continued to talk about his condition, saying his leg felt better. Stewart's room is kept locked, with the police guard inside, and no visitors are allowed.

"We're glad you came over," said Sheriff Clarke to Jailor Vredenburg before he departed for New Paltz with the two bankers, "and tell Sheriff Molyneux we appreciate what he did and that we'll always be ready to cooperate with him."

Sheriff Clarke was at home with the New Paltz bankers, and treated them very cordially. Conversing with them he said he had a warm spot in his heart for their town, he having graduated from the Normal School there in 1898.

Additional WPA Funds Allotted

Allocation of funds totalling $136,360.26 for 17 new work relief projects and supplemental allocations totalling $112,416.98 for 22 jobs already under way in the upstate New York area of the WPA have been made by Lester W. Herzog, state administrator.

The following projects are included: Catskill—Repair highways, dikes and bridges along following roads, all made necessary by recent floods: Timmerman Road, 2 miles; High Falls Road, 5 miles; and West Saugerties Road, 2 miles. 54 men, two months, $12,275.40. Lake Kateline—Supplemental allocation for construction of Burhan's Lane extension: 25 men, three months, $4,196.20.

Williams Student Dies By Own Hand After Killing Classmate

Williamstown, Mass., May 20 (AP)—President Tyler Bennett of Williams College today blamed overstudy preceding the final examination period for the suicide of a freshman, who first killed a classmate and wounded another.

Asserting "the tragedy happened in a moment of mental derangement," Bennett said Lewis Jack Somers, Jr., 19, of Meriden, Conn., killed Robert Paul Henneberry, 18, of Chicago, wounded William H. Hartz, 18, also of Chicago, another freshman, and then committed suicide last night shortly after dinner.

The college president said Somers, a Taft School graduate, used a .25 calibre pistol.

Police Chief George A. Royal said Somers had two pistols, both purchased from a New York mail order house.

"The boy went crazy, shot the other two men and then himself," Royal said.

George Clyde, of Santa Barbara, Cal., another freshman living in Lehman Hall where the shooting occurred, discovered the tragedy.

Robert Young, 18, a freshman of Scarsdale, N. Y., told authorities Somers "has been telling us fellows for a week that he had been planning suicide."

"Some of us kidded him about it." After a preliminary investigation Chief Royal said the case was "closed" and Assistant District Attorney Harold Goewey of Pittsfield, and State Detective Silas Smith said they agreed with Royal's "theory" that Somers was deranged at the time.

Renewals for Operators' Licenses

At midnight May 21, operators and chauffeur licenses expire and must be renewed prior to that time in order to operate a car after that date. The local Motor Vehicle Bureau on Fair street has been busy for the past several days renewing licenses.

Renewal of permits should be made early in order to avoid last minute congestion and in all probabilities immediately after the expiration of the 1935 permits the usual inspection of licenses will be made by police officials and State Troopers who usually conduct a campaign each spring to check up on delinquents. In order to avoid difficulties when stopped both operating licenses and also registration licenses should be carried when driving.

Detectives Attend Trial in Los Angeles, Seek Taylor Clues

Los Angeles, May 20 (AP) — Two detectives who have been trying 14 years to solve the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery were attracted as spectators today at a trial involving the riches of an actress he directed, Mary Miles Minter.

The Taylor case has been mentioned twice since the beginning of a suit by Miss Minter's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, to recover $200,000 from a brokerage concern. Attorneys on both sides referred to it in opening statements.

"We're just up here looking around," said Lloyd Yarrow, investigator on the district attorney's staff. He would go no further in explaining the presence of himself and his colleague, Capt. Jesse Winn, in the courtroom.

Yarrow and Winn have been on the case ever since Taylor was found shot to death in his Hollywood apartment in 1922.

The former actress has assigned her claims to her mother. Mrs. Shelby's counsel, Joseph Lewinson, declared Leslie B. Henry, former agent for Blyth and Company, used the Taylor case as a threat to silence Mrs. Shelby about the theft of her bonds.

Henry is serving a prison sentence after pleading guilty to embezzlement of Mrs. Shelby's investments.

In a letter read at the trial, Henry told Mrs. Shelby he planned a suicide automobile crash to atone for his defalcations. She could regain some of her losses by collecting insurance money on his death, Henry wrote.

"Forgive me for having lived so much longer at your expense," the letter added.

Trimly attired and composed, Miss Minter sat with her mother. She showed little emotion during mention of the Taylor case. Endearing letters she wrote him before he was slain were found among the director's effects.

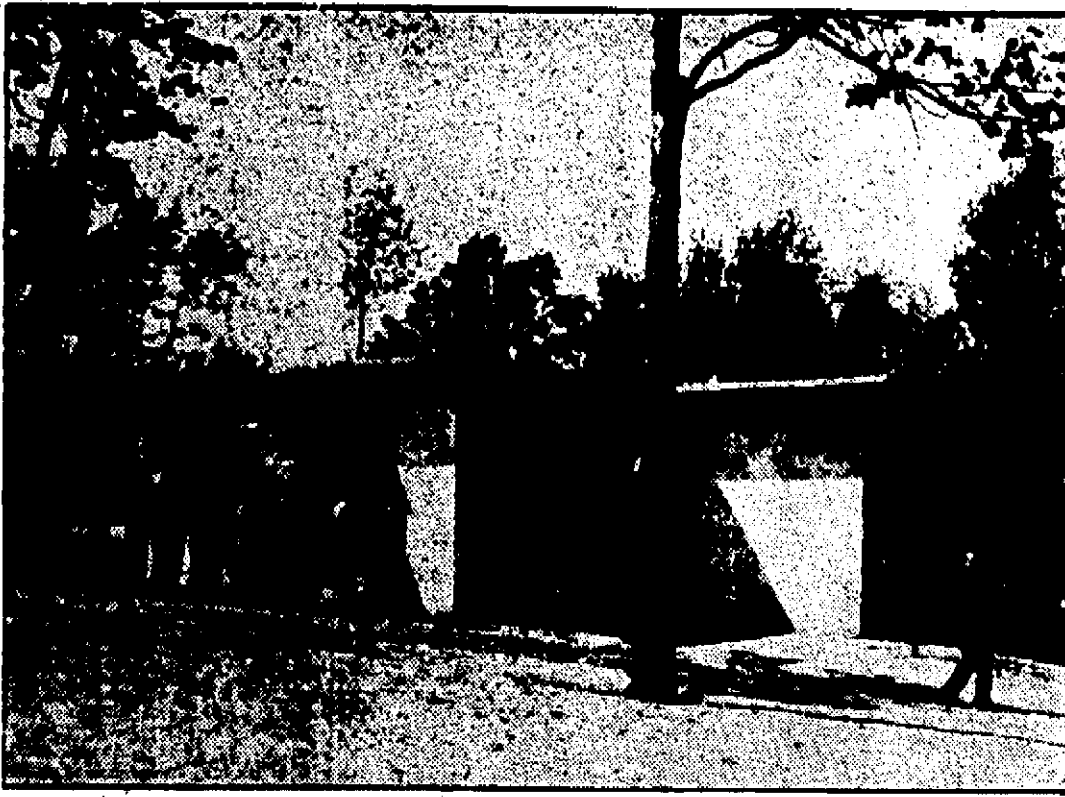

The defendant's counsel argues it is not responsible for defalcations of its one-time employee.

Fire From Lightning

Franklin, N. Y., May 19 (AP) — Fire believed to have been caused by lightning destroyed a barn and $10,000 worth of farming equipment to-night at Price's Switch, in northeastern Sussex county. The farm was owned by James Rickey of Warwick, N. Y., and operated by his son, William.

The three-act comedy, "Aaron Slick of Punkin Creek," successfully given at the Fair Street Reformed Church, will be repeated Tuesday night, May 26, at 8:15, at the Hurley Reformed Church. The proceeds of the entertainment will be for the benefit of the league of the Hurley church and the Young People's Forum and Mrs. Brink's class of the Fair Street Church.

How about a picnic on the very first warm day of the season? Nothing will please the younger members of the family more than a day's automobile trip and for the older members of the family there is something remarkably rejuvenating about such an excursion.

Directors Elected At Annual Meeting Of Local Y. M. C. A.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Kingston Young Men's Christian Association was held last evening at the association building. President C. S. Rowland presided. The Rev. Arthur S. Cole of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church pronounced the invocation, after which a very fine turkey dinner was served by the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. under the leadership of the president, Mrs. George DuBoise.

The first matter of business to come before the meeting was a report of the nominating committee, which was given by Wilson Ingalls. The following directors were elected for a term of two years: Ernest LeFevre, Emil Boesneck, Clarence Dumm, Frank Walter, Dr. Julian I. Gifford and Chester A. Baltz. The following directors were elected for a term of three years: James A. Guttridge, C. S. Treadwell, James W. Scott, A. B. Shufeldt, Clyde Wonderly, E. J. Trowbridge and Allen Hanstein.

One of the stirring moments of the meeting was when President Rowland presented James Osterhoudt, one of the charter members of the first Young Men's Christian Association in Kingston. He very feelingly told of the group of men who organized the first "Y" in Kingston in the year 1870. He said that of the original group he was the only one left. He wished those who are carrying on the work of the present organization much success.

Evan Davis was then introduced and he in turn introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. T. T. Richards, pastor of the Welsh Baptist Church of Scranton, Pa.

Dr. Richards spoke on the subject, "What is the Measure of a Man?" He made four points in his address: A man cannot be measured by his stature; a man cannot be measured by his wealth; a man cannot be measured by his knowledge; a man cannot be measured by his ancestors. The only measure which is a true measure is determined by what a man can and does do.

Dr. Richards concluded his talk very fittingly by picturing the ideal man whom he finally introduced as the Man of Galilee.

After thanking all those who helped to make the meeting a success, President Rowland declared the meeting adjourned.

A brief meeting of the board of directors was held following the annual meeting. Next Monday evening at 8:30 was decided upon as the time for the first regular meeting of the board for the purpose of organizing and electing officers. A nominating committee will be named to bring in nominations for the various offices at that time. Plans for the year ahead will no doubt be made at that time.

Members of the American Jersey Cattle Club, national organization of Jersey breeders, attending the 68th annual meeting of the organization in New York, N. Y., Wednesday, June 3, will hear the most optimistic reports presented in five years.

Poultry School Comes in June

Ithaca, N. Y., May 20 — For the 19th successive year, the department of poultry husbandry at Cornell sponsors a poultry judging and breeding school, June 16 to 19, at Ithaca.

Last year, more than 50 persons registered for the four-day course, most of the students being from New York state, though Illinois, Maryland, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire were represented. Since the school started in 1918, more than 1,200 persons have taken the course. Poultrymen, judges, teachers, extension workers, and students have come from 41 of the 48 states and from nine foreign countries.

The school gives instruction in the fine points of poultry judging and breeding, and seeks to standardize methods of judging poultry for production of meat and eggs.

Admission is limited to those connected with the poultry industry in some way. Expenses include a nominal laboratory fee and living expenses while in Ithaca. In addition to the regular poultry staff at the college of agriculture, instruction will be given by W. R. Graham of Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ontario, Canada; and D. R. Marble of Pennsylvania State College at State College, Pennsylvania.

More information about the poultry judging and breeding school may be had from Professor G. O. Hall, department of poultry husbandry, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

Tell Him Now:
If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing.
If you like him or you love him, tell him now.
Don't withhold your approbation till the person makes oration.
As he lies with snowy tresses o'er his brow.
For, no matter how you about it, he won't really care about it.
He won't know how many tears drops you have shed;
If you think some praise is due him, now is the time to slip it to him.
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

Do it! Don't be absurdly proud and independent. Ask your worst competitor to lunch. Talk things over. It can't do any harm. It may help. Who knows?

The bum approached the top-hatted gentleman.
Bum—Master, I need a friend bad. Could you lend me a hundred bucks? Gentleman (startled)—Lend you a hundred bucks? Why, sir, that's ridiculous. I don't even know you.
Bum (sticking out his hand and apologizing)—Beg pardon. My name is Smith.

The man who is not willing to settle down and stick year after year to his job is likely to turn up without any job.

Inquiring Reporter—So you attribute your longevity to abstinence from alcohol?
Centenarian (admitting)—Yes, my wife would have killed me if I had touched a drop.

The only friend who really counts is the one you can reach over and put your hand on in the dark; all the rest are mere acquaintances.

Mother—What are you thinking and laughing about, dear?
Small Daughter—I was thinking of what you just read about the wild people of Africa, Mother Dear.

Mother—But there was nothing amusing about that, dear.
Small Daughter—Why, yes, there was, Mother, about their beating on their tum-tums until they could be heard for miles.

A long sober face is more frequently the result of indigestion than wisdom.

Mrs. Knagg—After all is said and done—
Mrs. Knagg (interrupting)—I wonder if that glorious moment will ever come?

Company manners used at home do not lead the way to the divorce court.

Boss—You are thirty minutes late again. Don't you know what time we start to work at this office?
New Stenographer—No, sir, they're always at it when I get here.

Overheard at the Beach: "I don't care for her bathing suit—it's old fashioned—but outside of that she looks all right."

She (gushingly)—Will you love me when I am old?
Youth—Love you? I shall idolize you. I shall worship the ground under your little feet. I shall—um—er—you are not going to look like your mother, are you?

There is no fool like an old one—because he has more time to practice.

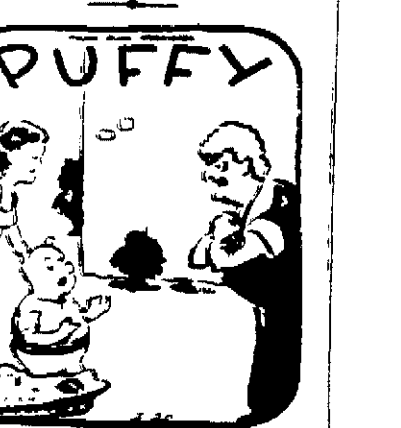

Mother—Now, Edith, Raymond says he's sorry he broke your doll, so I want you to forgive him.
Edith—I'd feel more like forgiving him, Mother Dear, if I could swat him one first.

Here's Our Entry: Historians are now trying to determine which is the oldest joke in the world. How about, "Elect me and I'll reduce your taxes?"

In April, 1935, the American Bible Society completed 100 years of work for the blind, during which period a total of 121,400 volumes of the Bible were supplied in 25 systems and languages. The society inaugurated a new service to the blind last year in manufacturing Scripture passages in talking book form on double-faced records, which can be used on any new phonograph. A popular volume of Scripture passages widely used by readers of the New York Point and Braille embossed systems was made available in the Moon embossed form and the entire Bible in the new Standard English Braille in 15 volumes was supplied.

"Good morning," Puffy says, and he looks very dim.
The plump woman stretches and yawns. "Hello."
"Where just come from, Mary, and why late?" says Puffy.
"Sleeping," says she. "For I'm alone and I'm tough."

VEST-POCKET VACATIONS

An Outfit For The Week-end Holiday

Weather and work permitting, the modern conception of the sabbatical day of rest is a miniature vacation. Diversion in the form of healthful activity has been substituted for the biblical adjuration by a nation that finds relaxation only in action. The week-end holiday belongs to no particular season. Summer, however, offers a wider variety of diversions. Special week-end rates make possible inexpensive journeys by rail to pleasant resorts, with ample time left for the full enjoyment of shore or mountain. Week-end sojourning, like a lengthier holiday, calls for serious consideration of the subject of clothes that will put you and keep you at ease—come what may. Elimination of all but the essentials is in order. With the exception of a change of "linen," we've suggested here a minimum week-end wardrobe that will suffice to meet every even-ting of resort activities. Looking over the train schedule is a week-end in a double-breasted grey flannel suit. The jacket of this suit will serve later for wear with white flannels, while the light-weight raincoat over his arm is indicative of a certain amount of preparedness for possible inclement weather. The light-weight felt is a practical hat for his journey.

Either the smart straw or the Panama hat will be in keeping with the clothes of this solid and hot. The flannel-suit is chosen, with a color ful segmented band.

One piece of luggage is ample to carry all your suggested "linen" and a few handkerchiefs, pocket squares, and a few other accessories.

There is no occasion for a week-end and the suggestion that you have a good shirt is not a suggestion. A shirt will keep a good watch on your chest.

For less than a moment, a short shirt of light weight knitted fabric may be worn with your flannel slacks, giving you another alternate outfit.

The popularity of the abbreviated knitted, button-down shirt is unquestioned. Many men of keen build, however, eschew the shirt in favor of a polo shirt, which is shorter than the shirt.

Ties are essential to such a wardrobe. The reason is that a few ties in the case will save other heart conditions, and find them invaluable.

Knights below each as a linen shirt, worn with the polo shirt, will serve as an alternate outfit that is as smart as it is comfortable.

That the polo shirt is a combination with a few of your flannel slacks, and a few more shirts, will give you a complete outfit for day-time recreation.

HEAVY DAMAGE INFLICTED BY FREAKISH HAIL STORM

Here are scenes in the wake of the freak wind, hail and rain storm that struck Omaha. At top, a motorist is rescued from his flooded car by youths in a boat after being trapped on a baseball field. Plans Community Concerts Here

Kingston and the surrounding communities may have community concerts again and remarkably good ones if they so desire. Dr. Fred Holcomb, Mrs. Allen Hanstein, Mrs. Lovatt and a group of musical enthusiasts have been quietly going about this matter and now have this announcement to make.

This time the artists whom the people will hear will be known before anyone is asked to buy any tickets. Probably the three concerts will include a world known instrumental soloist, an instrumental or vocal group and an equally famed because of excellence, singer. There will be two-price tickets and children will be admitted to the concerts for half of the price of their parents' tickets.

Already 15 captains have been chosen for the drive for subscribers which will be inaugurated on Monday, June 1. Besides those for Kingston, there will be a captain for the communities between Kingston and Ellenville; for Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Highland as well as New Paltz; for Saugerties and Catskill; and for the Ashokan section through Woodstock. The teams have been chosen and are full of enthusiasm.

County Firemen Were Guests of Phoenicia

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association were the guests of the fire department of Phoenicia on Tuesday evening. Before the meeting a parade was held through the village streets headed by a band.

At the business meeting it was decided to hold the June meeting as the guests of the Clintonville fire department at Clintonville at which time plans will be made for holding the first annual convention of the newly organized association.

It is expected that the convention will be held in Kingston some time in July. The date for the convention and also the place for holding it will be decided at the June session. Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy gave an interesting talk on fire prevention work, and Judge Henry McKean of Port Jervis, a former president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, also spoke. The judge is a candidate for member of the board of trustees of the Firemen's Home in Hudson. A trustee is to be elected at the annual convention to be held in Middletown in June.

Captain Babcock of Nyack was present at the meeting last night and gave a demonstration of fire fighting equipment.

Following the business meeting the entertaining fire department served refreshments.

All About Scales

Montgomery, Ala. — F. J. Smith and A. R. Felts underestimated the size of their catch.

A skeptical editor—wise in the ways of fishermen—suggested a catfish they had caught be weighed to verify the claim it scaled 67 pounds.

On the city's master scales the fish was found to be five pounds greater than Smith and Felts had claimed.

Speed Records Threatened
West Palm Beach, Fla. — Playmates of William Rutkin, 12-year-old negro boy, hoped to have his own story of an adventure with an octopus—provided they are able to find him.

The marine creature caught William by the leg yesterday while the boy was wading in Lake Worth and several of its two-foot tentacles had to be cut off before the boy could be freed.

William didn't stop long enough for conversation. Friends said he "took out" and when last seen was running so fast it appeared doubtful he would be able to get back home today.

Who's Boss Now?
Libertyville, Ill. — Mrs. Jess Keating (Miss Eva Harvey, that was) complained her new husband started demonstrating too soon who was head of the family.

Twelve hours after their wedding she had him arrested on a charge of beating her.

Right Is Might
Chicago — On the eighth floor of a building where she worked, a thief snatched the purse of Miss Mary Alice Jones, a Sunday school worker. It contained $700 which she had saved for a trip to the world Sunday school convention at Oslo, Norway.

She chased the thief to the seventh floor, where she tore off his coat. On the fourth floor she ripped off his shirt. On the third floor she threw down his trousers, snarled: "Lady, I dropped the purse on the seventh floor."

Miss Jones, destitute, returned to the seventh floor. The purse was there.

LaGuardia and Party
Tour Rondout Valley
Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York city and a party of 27 today toured the Rondout valley, inspecting the watershed that furnishes the metropolis with its water. With the mayor and 24 others from New York were J. A. Guttridge of the engineers' department and John H. McManus, chief of the bureau of claims, with offices on Wall street in Kingston.

The tour of inspection started early this morning, about 7:30 o'clock from the Governor Clinton Hotel, where Mayor LaGuardia and his party spent the night after arriving in Kingston about 11:30 o'clock. Upon completion of today's tour, the mayor and his party will spend the night at Monticello.

Competition between railroads, buses and airlines has been grand for all of them.

PIMPLE VICTIM'S TRUE STORY

There's a remarkable truth to this story from one who suffered from extremely itchy pimples, telling how to obtain quick relief. "We have been suffering for about five years and I used different remedies without success, but after I had used a couple of Ointment Soap and 2 boxes of Cuticura Ointment, I had no more pimples." Mrs. B. S. Carr, 32, all Ointment, FREE sample, with Cuticura, Dept. 31, Boston, Mass.

Tire Inspection.

Motorists will be interested in the free tire inspection service offered by Kingston Auto Supply, Inc., R. F. Goodrich Company tire dealer at 726 Broadway as a part of a nation-wide "war" now being waged by the rubber company's dealers against unsafe tires. "Goodrich, a pioneer in many movements to provide greater safety on American roads and highways, has requested its dealers to make expert examination, free of charge, of all tire equipment brought into service stations for that purpose," Mr. Smith said.

Reports from county agents reveal that 352,000 of the 1,272,500 acres sown to wheat in 11 counties on the south Texas plains last fall have been abandoned.

Liana Merwin

The coming beach and bathing season promises to be very colorful and unusually attractive, with much interest being shown in vivid print effects and in effective cape or coat-suit costumes that serve for both beach and bathing purposes. Much variety is introduced in beach fabrics too, with printed cottons, rayons, linens, challis, jersey and novelty knits offering a diversified collection. New suits of two-way stretch fabric also are noteworthy and bring a new figure controlling factor to bathing modes with emphasis on youthfully slender, figure moulding silhouettes. Ensembles also are much favored in novel knits and print combinations of linen and cotton. A particularly smart suit of printed pique was topped by a coat of natural linen and used the same print for coat trimmings. Other ensembles show both fabric and color, as illustrated by Schiaparelli designed the original. It combines a back-vented three-quarter coat of wool zephyr knit in pebble finish and a matching, skirted suit. The coat has a tuxedo styled front with slash pockets and self-belt, while the suit sports adjustable bow shoulder straps and a braided, white raffia belt.

Glenda Solves Allergic Mystery, Then 'Breaks Out' With Happiness

By ROSS COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Glenda Farrell, who laughs loud and often, knows she is a comedienne and does not want to play Lady Macbeth or Portia or Juliet.

"But I do wish," she said, mock-pensive for a moment, "I could have dignified things written about me. It's always romances, the man they saw me with last night. I'm afraid to go out with my father. They'd want to know who was that elderly gentleman with Farrell."

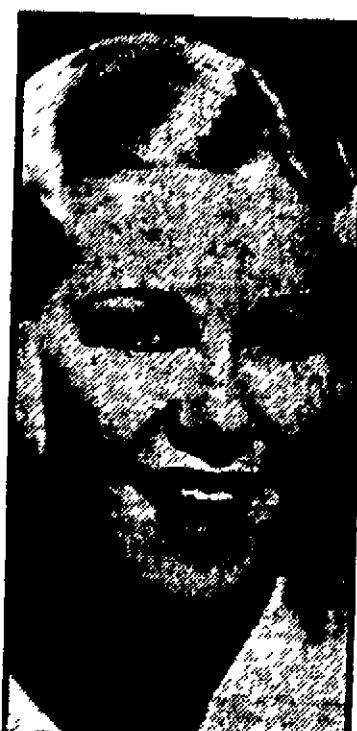

She laughed again, her blonde bob thrown back and her blue eyes sparkling. At that moment, she was sprayed with a generous shower of salt from an adjoining restaurant booth. A director there was throwing it over his shoulder in conformance with the old superstition. He apologized.

"Too Fresh"

"That's all right," Glenda came back, chortling. "I need salting down. I'm too fresh, anyway!"

It was lunch time. Miss Farrell said she wasn't eating much because today's role called for her appearance in pajamas. She had them on now, pale blue ones.

"It would show on me if I ate," she explained with a grin. "See—" and she pulled in the slack at her waist — "I'm losing weight. Don't know how much, and I'm afraid to weigh. But you can see my waist is slimmer."

In fact, said Glenda, happily talking, she had nothing at all to complain about today. Her allergy was gone!

"Allergy is a swell word," she said. "You try it on your friends and then before they've recovered you're in 'allergic,' another grand word."

About 'Allergy'

"I've been allergic to something — all broken out — and the doctors couldn't find out what it was. They tested everything — made me stop using soap, tested the dust around the house, foods, creams, make-up. It got so I couldn't eat anything, drink anything, do anything."

"It was deadly — I went away for a while. Went to a farm, slept, and played with the animals. That was funny, because the doctors eventually decided my allergy was to animal protein."

"But — oh, yes, about this dignity. Why can't I be like Irene Dunne? When she's working, they call her 'Miss Dunne.' And I — I've never yet worked on a picture where everybody wasn't calling me 'Glenda' inside of a week!"

After which the exuberant Miss Farrell was off to the set again.

Crime Detection Laboratory New York, May 20 (AP) — Plans for the establishment of an institute of forensic medicine as a huge laboratory for the detection of crime and educational center for students of legal medicine were disclosed in official quarters today.

The project, outlined by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, called for construction of a $1,500,000 five-story building, and for operation of the school as a city project.

Numerous physicians have expressed favor for the proposal and Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, acting chief medical examiner, described it as a necessity.

The World of Stamps

By QUINTON JAMES

Coincident with New York's Tenth stamp show, mecca of collectors for 10 days, Germany comes forward with its second Olympic Games issue, this one an eight-value set stressing the summer events at Berlin August 2-16. The earlier one was for winter games.

Each design depicts an athlete in action and each stamp bears a surtax as a special contribution to the games. Values range from 3 to 40 pfennigs, with athletes pictured in horizontal bar performer, a high jumper, a soccer player, a javelin thrower, a marathon runner, a fencer, a two-man sculling crew and a horse-back hurdler.

The stamp show, officially listed as the Third International Philatelic Exhibition, offers so many postal and related items that it required four miles of glass-paneled frames to display them all. That, roughly, called for 10 miles of walking by visitors, and several weeks would be required for a careful study of the exhibits.

World Millions

So many of the classics were on display that if one attempted to buy the show intact, he would have to put up a sum ranging pretty close to $20,000,000. Many of the items displayed have no known duplicates.

Outside of the stamps themselves, the pains taken by collectors to mount their stamps effectively on album pages was strikingly apparent. Some of them not only used various devices of pen and ink to frame their stamps, but inserted inscriptions of an explanatory nature. Some foreign exhibitors used black album leaves.

Throughout the show, the rarities were so numerous that it was difficult to show them all. The errors of the U. S. issues known as "Inverted" because their centers were printed upside down were such in evidence. Included were the 1-, 2-and 4-c of the 1901 Pan-American issue as well as the 24-cent airmail of 1918. Any one of these items command a neat price on the market with the 24-cent airmail inverted being the highest, the catalog listing them at around $17,000 in a block of four.

Rare Blocks

The U. S. section included the collection of G. E. Burghard of New York, which featured a complete set of blocks of four of the bluish paper sets in existence. The $10,000 value of this is conservative, for it contains the rare 4-c and 8-c blocks.

In the division of foreign stamps almost every state of frames had at least one cherished prize such as the Cape of Good Hope four "wood" blocks of 1861 with a four-penny error owned by Albert L. Lichtenstein of New York. From the ninety volumes of Sir John Wilson, president of the Royal Philatelic society of London, were selected 18 frames for a main-floor exhibit, principally of European countries.

Of the veteran philatelists, John N. Luff of New York exhibited an unusual grouping of stamps of India, in which there are 52 entire sheets. Coupled indirectly was the group known as the Luff reference collection, now owned by Scott. Only part of this collection, made up in several hundred volumes, was shown. It is used entirely for stamp reference purposes and has no equal.

Block and Patches

For some time collectors have been specializing extensively. This has produced such strange groupings as music, football and the like as they are pictured on stamps. Theodore Steiner of New York has one on music and Mrs. Hugh M. Clark, also of New York, one on football.

Numerous other concentrations were to be seen, including sports, transportation and animals.

Foreign exhibitors were numerous. Prominent was the collection of the world, twentieth century, of Mrs. Caroline Frances Conroy of New York. It contains the rare block of four DePueville airmail stamps of Newfoundland, issued in 1927. The block is encased in a

A romance wrecked by poor pronunciation! Nonsense, you think? Not a bit of it.

For a week Dan had noticed a charming, delightfully pretty girl who rode down town each morning on the same street car with him. He'd laid a good plot to get an introduction. Then, this morning, he sat behind pretty Marian as she chatted with her chum, Irene.

"Well, I'm from Missoora about his defissit being accidental," (said) "We all may AIR (err, she meant) but this is just a PREETense. He's been going with a fast CLICK and you can't do that free GRATUIT for nothing!"

So bang went the prospective romance! And you can't blame Dan. Marian will lose out all her life if she does not learn to speak with decent correctness in her mother tongue.

Harry Williams Dies In Plane Disaster, Worthen Killed Also

Baton Rouge, La., May 20 (AP).—A crash of a speedy plane into a wooded swamp, brought death today to Harry P. Williams, millionaire aviator and husband of Marguerite Clark, star of the silent screen.

Johnny "Red" Worthen, a veteran pilot, rode to death with the 47-year old lumberman and aviation enthusiast shortly after they took off from the Baton Rouge airport for Patterson, La., late last night.

Worthen was employed by Williams but the wealthy sportsman was a competent pilot and it was not known who was at the controls when the plane failed to gain altitude and slipped into a dive.

The men apparently met instant death. Their badly broken bodies were thrown clear of the plane and landed about 20 feet apart. The plane did not burn but an exploding gasoline tank seared a nearby tree.

In 1918 when Miss Clark was at the height of her film fame Williams wooed and won the petite red-haired actress, who retired from the movies to devote herself to her home and social interests in New Orleans.

In 1926 Williams met Jimmy Wedell, a barnstorming aviator, and began an association which carried Wedell to fame before he preceded his employer to death in an air crash in 1934.

Williams, son of the late Frank R. Williams, lumber magnate, handled extensive lumber, sugar, and oil interests. He was a former mayor of Patterson, his birthplace, and served as a first lieutenant in the Engineering Corps during the World War.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two brothers, Colonel L. Kemper Williams and C. S. Williams, both of New Orleans.

Roof of House Deserves Careful Consideration

It seems bromidic to say that the roof is one of the most important parts of the house, nevertheless it is true that too frequently insufficient consideration is given to both its structure and its covering.

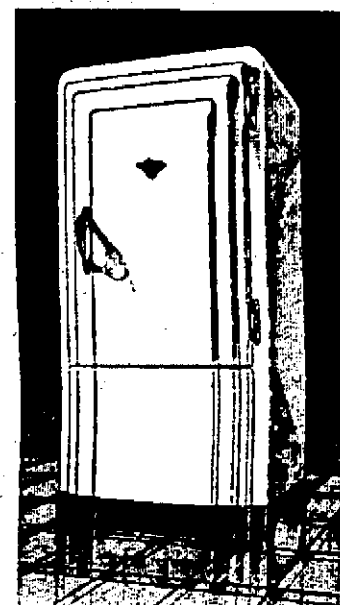

In building the framework for a sloping roof it must be borne in mind that the weight of the roof has a tendency to cause the structure to spread, therefore the rafters of the two slopes must be tied together as close to the bottom as possible to counteract this tendency. Wherever possible the ceiling joists that occur at or near the point where the rafters meet the side walls should run parallel with the rafters and serve as the tie at this low point. If it is impossible to run these joists in this direction, there should be metal straps attached to the rafters and run over and nailed to at least four joists. In addition, there should be tie beams from rafter to rafter as near the bottom of the spread as possible.

The covering may be of many types and materials: Slate, tile, wood, composition, asphalt either in single units or in strips. Slate should be of good quality, without ribbons. The thicker grades are longer lived and give a lovely texture to the roof. Tile may be of a variety of designs and costs.

Wood shingles should be edge grain and of first quality and should be laid with generous lapping and comparatively small exposure. As-

Memorial Day Picnic

The First Presbyterian Men's Club and their families will enjoy another Memorial Day picnic and outing, if present plans are approved by enough to insure its success. The committee in charge has secured a suitable spot in the township of Asbury, about five miles north of Saugerties, by way of the Quarryville road, where bathing, wading, fishing, softball or games may be used as recreation, and outdoor fireplaces in a shady grove offer an inducement to all who like a real outdoor picnic and good time. Also the committee is attempting to arrange for the hire of music for an old-fashioned dance and party in the Grange Hall in the evening. It is necessary that some idea of how many are interested in going be given those making the arrangements, and William Leith or Fred Carpenter will be glad to tell those interested more about the affair.

Governor Lehman Will Now Retire

man of New York as the Democratic candidate for reelection was urged today by Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.).

"Governor Lehman is so indispensable to the state that we've just got to draft him," Wagner told newsmen when informed of the governor's decision not to seek reelection.

"During these critical times we just can't afford to lose his valuable services," Wagner continued. "As governor he has made one of the most remarkable records in the history of the state."

Senator Copeland (D-N. Y.) said Lehman's decision would be "a great loss to the state," but that he was "not surprised the governor decided not to run."

"I can quite understand that the death of Governor Lehman's brother brought about some changes in the family situation," Copeland said, "and this undoubtedly had something to do with his decision. He has been a great governor and I am sorry he has decided not to run again."

The White House said there was no comment to make at this time. Lehman has been a close friend and political ally of President Roosevelt.

A month ago, Postmaster General James A. Farley virtually designated Governor Lehman for a third term in an address at a Jefferson Day dinner here, strengthened the belief that he would decide to run again.

On the following day, the Democratic state committee unanimously endorsed the governor's administration and adopted a resolution calling upon the people "to insist that the governor decide to remain in office."

Some Capitol observers believed that Democratic state committee members will immediately inaugurate a movement to draft the governor, despite his decision not to be a candidate.

Fiorenza Trial
Opens in New York

New York, May 20 (AP)—John Fiorenza, 24-year-old upholsterer's helper, heard the state ask for his conviction of first degree murder as opening statements were made today at his trial for the slaying of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, fiction writer.

"We will prove he deliberately killed Mrs. Titterton," said District Attorney William C. Dodge. In a brief address to the jury selected yesterday from a blue ribbon panel.

"I ask you in the name of the state of New York to return a verdict of murder in the first degree," said Dodge after describing the strangling of the petite writer in her Beekman place apartment on April 10.

Henry Klauber, Fiorenza's counsel indicated a plea of insanity would be made for the defendant who confessed the slaying but pleaded innocent to the murder charge.

"Of course he admitted the murder," Klauber said, "and everything that the police suggested. He had been admitting everything for years."

"The man's brain has deteriorated to such extent that he admits doing things that he never could have done."

Fiorenza listened impassively to the opening statements.

Separation Granted Frances Gruenwald

A separation order has been signed by Justice Foster of the Supreme Court granting the separation of Frances Elizabeth Gruenwald of Kingston against John William Gruenwald, Jr., of Kingston. The action was commenced on the grounds of cruelty and failure to provide for the support of the plaintiff and her children.

The parties were married August 5, 1923, and have resided in Kingston. The complaint alleged that defendant struck the plaintiff on various occasions and that in particular on July 14, 1935, when plaintiff refused to allow "the girl he was running with to sleep in my room." It is also alleged in the complaint that in January of 1936, the defendant struck and choked his wife and threw her out of the window because she protested when the defendant held hands with another girl and openly paid attention to her. Mrs. Gruenwald alleges that the woman to whom her husband paid attention had been residing in the Gruenwald house for a time and that there was trouble over the attention which defendant paid to the woman, Geraldine Meyers. On March 30, 1936, defendant left the home and refused to return.

$1,638.80 Reported In Y. W. C. A. Drive At Tuesday's Meeting

There was an excellent attendance of captains and workers out for the get-together supper for the Young Women's Christian Association budget-raising campaign at the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday evening and that in spite of the heavy shower that came up just as the workers were gathering.

Enthusiasm seemed to be the prevailing spirit of the occasion as well as it might be with one of the Business Girls who has been very ill and badly crippled all winter, among the active workers though depending upon a cane to get about. Such a spirit would enthrall any group of people.

Mrs. G. N. Wood, president of the Y. W. C. A., called upon the Rev. Mr. McGrath, pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, for the invocation.

Last evening as well as last Friday evening, the excellent supper was admirably served by young women of the National Youth Administration.

There was lively singing by all, led by Miss Ruth Bell with Mrs. Raymond Rignall at the piano. A very clever stunt was admirably given by one of the H. Y. girls, Miss Watrous, who gave in costume "The Lover's Lament," a very humorous parody on "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," telling the tale of a lover whose sweetheart was intensely loyal to the Y. W. C. A. It must have been especially inspiring to all workers present.

The first speaker of the evening was Dr. Fred Holcomb, who told of two spring activities in his home that were now traditional. The first—house cleaning—he did not like, but that was over. The second, the Y. W. C. A. drive, he did enjoy, for the spirit of that Y. W. C. A. drive was very contagious. The doctor could not understand any one who knew of the splendid work done at and by the Y. W. C. A. failing to make some contribution toward it. He considered the keynote of the Y. W. C. A. as shown in these drives to be "loyalty to the organization and loyalty to each other," which was bound to be unquenchable.

Another speaker realizing the appeal of brevity was one of the Y. W. C. A. trustees, E. E. Fessenden, who is always a welcome speaker. Mr. Fessenden expressed his pleasure and satisfaction in coming to the Y. W. C. A. either unofficially or on such an occasion as the present campaign because of the splendid spirit of loyalty and interest on the part of those who belong to and work for the Y. W. C. A. He reminded the workers that just now they all had a very tangible piece of work to do, and though it might be hard and take courage and perseverance for its accomplishment, because it was really worth while, he knew it would succeed, for after all, here in Kingston we always do find a way to do the things that most need to be done.

Mrs. Holcomb then announced that the individual worker who brought in the largest number of subscriptions of $1 or more during the entire campaign would win a prize.

The workers were reminded that the next get-together supper would be on Friday evening at 6:10 o'clock, and were asked to make a special effort to be present as well as those who were not there. Then came the joyful news of the reports which were as follows:

Team I, Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell, Mrs. Chas. Terwilliger	$ 243.00

Last-minute preparations were made at the meeting of the Newman Club Tuesday evening for the Communion Breakfast to be held after the eight o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Church on Sunday, May 24. The place where the breakfast will be held has not yet been decided upon, but the members will be informed of it before Sunday. Since the weather was not very favorable for the last swimming party, another has been organized for Sunday afternoon, May 24.

The next meeting of the Newman Club, to take place on June 2, will be the last of the year, and as customary, the election of the officers for next year will be held.

Herriot Studies Bid To Take Leading Part In League Reformation

Leon, Socialist Leader, Asks Former Premier to Become Foreign Minister in Cabinet to be Formed in June.

SANCTIONS' RESULT

Rising Belligerency in Rome Over Continued Sanctions Reflected in Editorials.

Paris, May 20 (AP).—Edouard Herriot, three premier of France, weighed today an appeal from Leon Blum, premier-designate of the incoming Leftist government, to become foreign minister and take a leading part in proposed League of Nations reform.

Blum, leader of the Socialist party, urged Herriot personally in a three-hour conference last night to accept the foreign affairs portfolio in the new cabinet, to be formed after the Left-dominated Chamber of Deputies convenes early in June.

Sources close to Herriot, spirited "enfant terrible" of French politics, said he was reluctant to take the post but deferred his final answer to Blum's plea that he undertake the task of trying to untangle European affairs and open a new era of diplomacy.

One reason for Herriot's unwillingness to take charge of the Quai d'Orsay was reported to be the problem, incumbent on the foreign minister, of writing a reply to the United States' formal notice of the June 15 payment due on the war debt.

Herriot, once overthrown by the Chamber of Deputies for his insistence that France should pay its war debt installments to America, announced only yesterday his accord with Blum's expressed desire for an end to the war debt "misunderstanding."

France, like other debtor nations except Finland, has answered the semi-annual American notifications recently with only a simple acknowledgment.

Sanctions Reactions.
Rome, May 20 (AP).—Rising Italian belligerency over the continuance of sanctions was reflected in editorial comments today by the often-austere editor, Virginio Gayda, of Giornale d'Italia.

"The economic siege of sanctionism," wrote Gayda, "has been and remains a deliberate act of war."

Gayda said sanctions had taught Italy:

1. There exists a mechanism under foreign control capable of striking at a nation's resistance.
2. This mechanism, an instrument of war and might with a mask of peace and justice, may serve the ends of some great imperial power.
3. The use of this insidious arm may be turned in any direction against the legitimate interests of any nations whatsoever.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HUGH A. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The rather unusual spectacle of two teams, in the middle of the bases for the lead in their respective leagues and both apparently unable to make the fans take notice, is to be seen in the major leagues these days. They are the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians, second and third respectively in the standings. They've both had a few good gatherings, but Cleveland already is facing the spectacle of dwindling attendance while the New York attitude is that the often-injured Giants can't hold together for very long.

Fewer than 5,000 fans turned out yesterday to see the Tribe engage in a final "crucial" struggle with the league-leading New York Yankees and go down, 10 to 4.

The Giants were rained out in their final game against Pittsburgh and got a welcome breathing spell before tackling the St. Louis Cardinals, who lead them by a half game. The Cincinnati-Brooklyn and St. Louis-Phillies game also were postponed.

Cleveland's defeat gave the Detroit Tigers a chance to come closer to third place, as Tommy Bridges found some of his best form and pitched them to a 4 to 2 victory over Washington while the Red Sox kept pace with the Yanks by pulling out a 4 to 2 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Rogers Hornsby's re-viving Browns bowled over the Athletics 8 to 4. The day's other contest saw the Boston Bees beat out Chicago's Cubs 5 to 5.

Remaining idle didn't prevent the Dodgers from taking another one on the chin when Freddy Lindstrom, veteran outfielder, decided he wasn't going himself or anyone else much good as a Brooklyn player and announced his retirement from baseball. A leg injury suffered last Friday was believed to have prompted the decision.

The few fans who did turn out at Cleveland saw Pearson outlast George Blaisdell; Lou Gehrig, Red Kille and Billy Sullivan belt homers and Bill Knickerbocker and Tony Lazzeri almost come to blows. Lazzeri thought Knickerbocker was unfairly rough when Joe Di Maggio slid into second.

Bridges limited the Senators to four hits and fanned five in a clash with Buck Newsom. Monte Stratton of the White Sox also pitched a four hitter but Boston scored three runs in the second on Zeke Bonura's error, two passes, Oscar Melillo's hit and long fly. The Browns just seemed through as the batters who couldn't hit at all a few days ago belted Dusty Rhodes for five runs in the innings.

Boston's Bees had to conquer the elements as well as the National League champions. A wind, dust and rain storm delayed the game in the second inning and each team scored four runs in the third before Lon Warneke and Ray Benge could get warmed up again. Boston's winning runs came off Clay Bryant in the fourth.

K.H.S. Golf and Tennis Teams at Poughkeepsie

While the baseball teams of Poughkeepsie and Kingston cross bats at the Fair Grounds this afternoon the Maroon and White golf and tennis teams will journey to Poughkeepsie.

With three straight wins to their credit, including a 14-4 triumph over Poughkeepsie, the Kingston golfers are rated as favorites. Captain Frank Heitsman has been moved up to the number one position replacing Fred Holcomb, who is out of this week's competition due to ineligibility.

Heitsman was slated for this position before the season started, but was replaced by Holcomb as he was playing a fine brand of golf. The other players are Barney Murray, Bert Dubinsky and Bob Cole.

The local racketeers will try to regain their winning ways after being blanked by Newburgh 5-0 last week. Captain Knute Belschert and George Strivak will occupy the first and second positions while Frances, Gordon and Nekos will be available to fill the other positions.

A Rare Rookie

Van Ryn Dropped as American Davis Cup Team Is Selected

New York, May 20 (AP)—With the personnel of the American Davis Cup team reduced to four players, in accordance with international regulations, the tennis nestors remained perplexed today in the selection of the actual team which will oppose Australia next week-end in the suburbs of Philadelphia in the North American zone final.

From among Wilmer Allison, the national champion, red headed Don Budge, Bryan (Bliss) Grant and Gene Mako the U. S. Cup selection committee will have to decide by May 29 on two singles players and one doubles combination.

The original squad of five, which has been practicing for 10 days at the Merion, Pa., Cricket Club, was reduced last night when the committee created a mild surprise by dropping Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia, a veteran of the last seven cup campaigns.

Van Ryn and Allison as winners of the national tandem title last year were ranked the nation's No. 1 1935 doubles team. But they have been beaten consistently this year on both clay and grass courts by the second-ranking pair, Budge and Mako. Thus the elimination of Van Ryn virtually assured the California youngsters the doubles assignment although Holcombe Ward, selection committee chairman, explained Allison and Budge have been working out together in practice.

The big problem confronting officials in choosing among Allison, Budge and Grant, graded in that order in the national ranking, for two singles berths. Budge, who played singles in the 1935 and 1936 domestic cup play and last year in the advanced competition in England, is an almost certain starter.

Although national champion, Allison finds himself in the unique position of having to battle it out with the plot-sized Georgian for the other berth. Like Van Ryn, Allison has been a member of every cup squad since 1923, affording him experience which more than likely will swing the balance in his favor over Grant.

U. S. Wightman Cup Team Sails Tonight

New York, May 20 (AP)—Still uncertain as to who may be on the team when the international tennis matches begin at Wimbledon June 12, the United States Wightman Cup team sails for England on the Manhattan tonight.

The party sailing tonight consists of Caroline Dobson of Los Angeles, Mrs. Sarah Fuller Fabian of Brooklyn, Mrs. Mabel and Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn of Philadelphia.

John Jacobs, team captain and last ranking American women player, is scheduled to join the squad in England along with James S. Cockman, who will act as team manager. However, Miss Jacobs is in Austria recuperating from a recent illness and has withdrawn from the current French hard court championship in order to conserve her strength for the Wightman Cup matches.

Meanwhile Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, the Wimbledon champion, is in New York where her position as an exhibition and her last given to an exhibition whether or not she plans to go to Europe this year. Mrs. Moody has hinted she might make sudden decision to play at Wimbledon again and that in such an event she would be available for Wightman Cup play. She admits she has tennis equipment in her trunk and could make the trip without inconvenience but her plans still remain in the dark.

The matches June 12 and 13 at Wimbledon will be the 14th annual competition for the Wightman Cup. The United States holds a 3-4 lead in the series.

Old-Time Rivalry To Be Resumed Sunday

A genuine baseball rivalry will be renewed Sunday at the Pan Am diamond when the Kingston Colonials oppose the Paterson Silk Sox.

The game is scheduled for 3.15 sharp. The Sox have ranked with the best semi-pro clubs in the country for more than a decade. The original Colonials and the Silk Sox staged some of the most memorable scraps ever seen at the Fair Grounds, and although the line-ups of both clubs have undergone changes since then, the rivalry is expected to be just as keen.

Warren "King Kong" Shackett, former star of the Saugerties A. C. Colonials, seeks his second victory in a Colonial uniform. Shackett flashed impressive form against the Port Jervis Red Sox last week. Ted Freleigh will be available for reserve duty.

The Silk Sox have already gotten off to a typical start. In five games to date, they chalked up victories over such powerful outfits as Sloatesburgh, N. Y., Pennsylvania Red Caps, Jamelson's All Stars and Allendale.

Krawitz, Bloomfield, Sherry and Gamble make up the Paterson staff. Krawitz is the standout with plenty of semi-pro background and is expected to oppose Shackett. The infield consists of Bosshardt, 1b, LaMarta, 2b; Donato, 3b; Sloan, ss; Licher, DeLuca and Politinsky, outfielders.

The Colonials flashed plenty of batting strength against Port Jervis, knocking Bill Lennox and Pepper for 17 solid hits. The infield of Normie Niles, Jimmy Turk, Bill Terwilliger and Johnny Carpenter clicked in excellent fashion. Tommy Davis is the extra infielder. Pres Knight, Paul Joyce, Charley Lay and Charles Tiano will take care of the outfield duties. Joe Hoffman will catch.

Preparations are being made to handle a record breaking crowd. Last week one of the best crowds in several years at the Pan Am field saw the Colonials whip Port Jervis.

Metropolitan Open Golf Starts Thursday

New York, May 20 (AP)—Serving as a final tune-up tourney for the national open championship at Baltmore (N. J.), June 4-5, the metropolitan open golf championship gets under way tomorrow at the Quaker Ridge Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y.

The tourney has drawn more than 100 entries, including half the members of the 1935 Ryder Cup team and a flock of other pros who are rated as important contenders in the national tourney.

Heading the list is Henry Picard of Haverhill, Pa., the 1935 "Met" champion and a 9 to 1 favorite in the first betting quotations for the national. Other professional stars include Paul Ranney, Walter Bacon, Craig Wood, Gene Sarazen, Hickey Cox, Willie MacFarlane, Jimmy Hines, Victor Ghezzi, Byron Nelson and the Japanese tourists, Torii and Chick Chin.

The prize money this year has been increased from $1,250 to $2,750, with $750 going to the winner.

Thieves on Police Copper is supposed to be deadly poison to birds and other fowl; but Clifford L. Pedford, of the University of California fruit products laboratory, has found one form that thwarts even a saturated solution of copper sulphate. It does not feed on the copper salt, but on which nourishment from several kinds of sugar as well as from starch in the presence of the strong copper solution. Solutions of other copper compounds, as well as of salts of other heavy metals such as mercury, silver, cobalt and lead, were sometimes toxic to the fungus.

No Army-Navy Game In Mid-West, Because Of Loss Due to Travel

New York, May 20 (AP)—Despite attractive inducements, the latest of which comes from that all-star capital of sports—Detroit—authorities of your Uncle Sam's two service academies have no desire or intention of taking the Army-Navy football game westward again.

Ever since the service gridiron classic was put on before 110,000 spectators at Soldier Field, Chicago, 10 years ago, periodic attempts have been made to bring about a return engagement. Chicago would welcome the Cadets and Midshipmen again, without the slightest shadow of doubt.

St. Louis and Cleveland, in addition to Detroit, have made bids. The halls of Congress have echoed with the oratory of representatives contending, in effect, that "the people of my section are as much entitled to enjoy this thrilling spectacle as the people of the east."

For strictly practical reasons, the authorities at West Point and Annapolis favor keeping the game in the east, preferably Philadelphia, which comes the closest of any of the big seaboard cities to being midway and neutral. Besides, the game grew up there. It returned to Franklin Field several years ago, after shuttling from New York to Baltimore to Chicago and back to the big town. It will be played this year in the Municipal Stadium at Philadelphia, under an arrangement giving the academies an option on the same site for 1937.

The main objection to taking the game west of the Alleghenies is that it means too much loss of time from academic work for the corps of Cadets and regiment of Midshipmen. It is their big show but it comes at the end of the season when every day of classroom work counts for the future generals or admirals hopeful of carrying the ball through the scholastic barriers successfully. With the game played in the east, the trips to and from West Point and Annapolis involve only one day's absence.

"The naval and military academies are agreed on the policy of keeping the game in the east, much as we appreciate the attractiveness of going occasionally into the middle west," Major L. D. Worsham, West Point's retiring graduate manager of athletics, told the Associated Press.

"The idea of playing in so fine a stadium as that of the University of Michigan appeals to us particularly, but our one experience demonstrated it is impractical to take the game so far away that it's an overnight ride."

The midwest will continue, however, to see the Army and Navy eleven in action, separately and at intervals. West Point has booked a renewal series with Illinois. The Navy plays Notre Dame alternately at Baltimore and South Bend.

Kasichs and Hurons On Today's Slate

The scheduled City League game between the Home Leaders and the Glenside All Stars Tuesday night was postponed on account of the storm.

Tonight at Ashford Field the Kasichs A. C. and the Huron Indians are slated to oppose each other. The Indians have yet to mark up a League victory. The Kasichs have two games to their credit and are now charged up against them.

Ex-Head of Film Union Indicted for Theft

Harry Sherman, former president of Local 306 of the Motion Picture Machine Operators' Union, was indicted Monday in New York city on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the withdrawal from union accounts of $150,961.75 in December, 1933.

Accompanied by his attorney, Hyman Bushel, Sherman furnished cash bail of $7,500 in chambers before Judge Wallace.

President of Local 306 from February 10, 1933, to July, 1934, Sherman was accused of placing the money in two vaults at the Guardian Safe Deposit Co., 61 Broadway.

Assistant District Attorney Mendelson charged Charles Beckman, financial secretary of the local at that time, and Charles Hyman, treasurer, with withdrawing the money from various banks on Sherman's instructions and gave it to the president, who tendered his personal receipts.

Sherman, who said he rushed here from South Dakota, where he was working in a theatre, on learning of the impending indictment, charged the evidence resulting in the indictment was "trumped up by a disgruntled group of ousted union officials."

He became president of the local, which is affiliated with the International Alliance of Theatrical, Stage and Motion Picture Operators of the United States and Canada, after Frank Kaplan, former president, was convicted of conspiracy and coercion. He charged yesterday Kaplan supporters were behind the indictment.

Mrs. C. N. Reed Heads Newly Established Kingston Civic Forum

There was a fairly representative gathering of the heads of various groups of citizens of Kingston held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday evening, following the first similar meeting held at the same place on April 28 and called by the chairman of the Good Government Committee of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Clara Norton Reed.

Those present, especially those who had not been there at the first meeting were told of the objective of the meeting to bring together representatives of all sorts of groups, business, educational, professional, welfare, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Music Society, Ministerial Association, Medical Society, Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., Board of Education, bankers, Bar Association, City Library, D. A. R., W. C. T. U., Mendelsohn Club, Red Cross, Common Council, College Women's Club, Tuberculosis Committee, with the Colonial Stamp Club as the newest organization to be represented, for the purpose of getting acquainted with each other, and endeavoring to find some common ground for cooperation for the betterment of Kingston. The unifying of the ideas and ideals and objectives of all of the people of the city either in individual groups or together along the best lines was the main purpose for which both meetings were called.

After considerable discussion and consideration it was decided to form out of the beginning, a "Civic Forum" for the city and Mrs. Reed was asked to be the chairman of the organization.

As there seemed to be a lack of a concrete objective to start with, Mrs. Reed suggested that a very big objective of such a character was facing the city in the Mayor's Conference which is a state conference to be held in Kingston June 3, 4 and 5, and further suggested that there were several ways of adding greatly to the enjoyment of the city's guests without the expenditure of money. She suggested, that no matter what the individual worries and hardships might be, each person in the city determine and carry out their determination of looking pleasant and smiling, at least on the streets and in places of business during those three days. Furthermore it was shown that for local men to stop and greet visiting men they might meet on the streets, for women to show the same cordiality to visiting women, to tell or guide them how to reach places of interest, would give the guests to understand that all of the people of Kingston were their hosts and hostesses. It was suggested that school children be asked to extend pleasant greetings to strangers so that an atmosphere of the genuine hospitality for which Kingston was noted for in its earlier history, would pervade.

Another way of making guests comfortable was noted as a showing of the consideration of our auto owners in parking their cars on side or distant streets from business centers, leaving space for the comfortable parking of the cars of the guests. Courteous consideration of all business employers and employees was expected as a matter of course. The idea was favorably considered and the entire community is asked to do its part individually, so that all of these visitors will want to return to Kingston.

By that time the discussion of Kingston's needs and further objectives of the Forum became more general. An excellent contribution to the subject was given by C. Ray Everett, city treasurer, in addition to his favoring of the idea of the extending of cordiality by the entire city to all of the various groups making up this big convention as well as to individuals. Mr. Everett explained the plan for the entertainment as well as of the business sessions of the convention, all of which was very illuminating, especially to those who had not read The Freeman of Tuesday evening.

Mr. Everett went on to say that there was one thing wherein the city had been lacking in stirring publicity and that was the problem of more employment. He spoke heartily in favor of the Industrial Committee, which was really everybody's Industrial Committee and not just the Mayor's Industrial Committee. Recalling many of the industries which in the past had made Kingston prosperous, yet which today are past history, never to return, Mr. Everett asked "what we were going to do to replace those industries." He told of the bringing of two worthwhile industries to the city with another practically assured which would give employment to three or four hundred people. This had been made possible because a few forward-looking, courageous business men had jointly gone on a note for $2,000 to bring these industries to Kingston and asked the moral backing and support of such men in efforts to rehabilitate Kingston.

Proving the comprehensiveness of the Kingston Civic Forum, the next matter to be brought up was one that should interest all people who care for the cultural side of life in Kingston. Mrs. Hanstein, representing a group of citizens who are about to sponsor community concerts of a high order for the coming year, told of that project. This time the artists to be brought to Kingston for three concerts will be known before the people of Kingston and the surrounding county are asked to support the concerts. Arrangements will be made so that children and young people can have the pleasure and benefit of these concerts which will all be given by the best artists in their line to be had anywhere.

Mrs. Hanstein made it very clear that this was no charitable proposition, but purely a cultural one to help remove the stigma of being a community without any musical interest that has been put upon the city of late. The campaign to secure subscribers for such a series of concerts will begin on Monday, June 1, with a get-together supper of the 15 captains and those who are planning other features of the campaign, which will be carried on by local people.

After discussing several other phases of city needs, it was voted to hold a meeting of the Kingston Civic Forum the twenty-fourth of each month, the first such meeting to be held June 24 at the City Hall. The meeting opened and closed with prayer.

The Kingston Civic Forum will now include representatives of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs which organization sponsored the new movement.

Those present, especially those who had not been there at the first meeting were told of the objective of the meeting to bring together representatives of all sorts of groups, business, educational, professional, welfare, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Music Society, Ministerial Association, Medical Society, Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., Board of Education, bankers, Bar Association, City Library, D. A. R., W. C. T. U., Mendelsohn Club, Red Cross, Common Council, College Women's Club, Tuberculosis Committee, with the Colonial Stamp Club as the newest organization to be represented, for the purpose of getting acquainted with each other, and endeavoring to find some common ground for cooperation for the betterment of Kingston. The unifying of the ideas and ideals and objectives of all of the people of the city either in individual groups or together along the best lines was the main purpose for which both meetings were called.

Rev. C. L. Palmer Talks To Comforter Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Church of the Comforter Men's Club was held Tuesday evening in the church hall with the president, Gordon A. Craig, presiding. After the usual business of the club was disposed of Frank Elmendorf introduced the Rev. C. L. Palmer, retired minister of this city and former pastor of the Church of the Comforter, who gave a very interesting talk on his 40 years experience in the ministry.

The Rev. Mr. Palmer opened his address with the statement that he had retired under very favorable circumstances because he had some literary work which he wanted to accomplish. He said that he was not like one minister who gave up his pulpit to become a chaplain in a penitentiary, and who used as his text for his farewell sermon the Biblical passage, "I go to prepare a place for you." Whether or not that minister was casting any reflections on his congregation, Mr. Palmer would not say, but he did know that his own retirement was brought about under pleasant ideals and was entirely of his own choosing.

Mr. Palmer was born in Poughkeepsie where he entered into business. One day as he was passing along Academy street, he was seized with the inspiration that he was "wanted in the ministry." From that time on he became dissatisfied with business life and so he finally entered Princeton Theological Seminary and upon graduation became the pastor of Ponds Church in Oakland, N. J. While in this locality, the Rev. Mr. Palmer contracted chills and fever, due to the damp climate, and was forced to move to preserve his health, settling in the hills of Montgomery county, N. Y. Here he encountered the difficulties of dealing with an ardent "trouble-maker," finally overcoming the obstacle by using a formula which he termed "RIP," meaning to "rest in peace."

Again due to ill health and the sense of "isolation in Montgomery county which seemed at that time to be terrific," Mr. Palmer accepted the pastorate of the Shokan church, leaving there and coming to the Comforter Church because of the building of the Ashokan reservoir. His stay at the Comforter impressed the Rev. Mr. Palmer in two distinct ways; the first being the sense of complete harmony which was manifest between the workers in the church; and the second being the strong Christian Endeavor Society which has always been evident in the Comforter, and which he has not found to be so in other churches.

After what he considered to be along enough stay in Kingston, the Rev. Mr. Palmer transferred to the Reformed Church in Marlborough, N. J. This church was a conservative organization which was founded in 1699. The Rev. Mr. Palmer occupied this pulpit for 12 years, and then retired, now making his home in Kingston.

In closing the Rev. Mr. Palmer stressed two points which he had found to be basic in his years in the ministry. He said that "it was impossible to prepare a sermon that is too good," and that "a good sermon will always be appreciated to the extent of the work involved in its preparation." He also found that "it was absolutely imperative in the successful guidance of a church to have some form of social organization. People will not respond to preaching alone, and I found it impossible to conduct a church without some social activity."

The Rev. Mr. Palmer's final remarks took the form of a story concerning a certain minister who found that his church was running behind in attendance and activities. So one Sunday morning this minister announced that he would hold a funeral service for his church on a certain day and he was inviting his congregation to make it a point to be present at this service. This minister purchased a casket, arranged for floral tributes and awaited the day of the ceremony. At the church on that day, he placed the casket in the front section of the church, surrounding it with flowers. He preached the regulation funeral sermon and then invited the congregation to file to the front and view the reason for the church's demise, which could be seen in the casket. The congregation's curiosity was thoroughly aroused and they crowded forward to see what the casket contained. In the casket lay a large mirror which reflected each observer's image as he peered into the interior. The lesson taught that comforters the fundamental truth that our churches are what we make them.
